Quote of the Day

"Ultimately this issue is not about ideology or political correctness. It is about providing a new opportunity for good education, which is the key to success. Unless a youngster has learned the fundamentals of education, he or she will find it extremely difficult to learn when older, and finally to find work in what is increasingly a competitive marketplace. If supporting the Mayor's proposal will help us to better understand what works and what doesn't in terms of educating our youth, then I believe Mayor Williams should be allowed to undertake this experiment"
